JANUS et Cie®

BEYOND TOPIARY

2026 Brooklyn Heights Designer Showhouse

A sun-drenched terrace reimagined as a nostalgic athletic club, featuring an artful mix of JANUS et Cie collections.

JANUS et Cie is delighted to be part of the 2026 Brooklyn Heights Designer Showhouse, an annual celebration of design and creativity benefiting the Brooklyn Heights Association. Set within a historic Greek Revival brownstone, this year?s showhouse brings together an exceptional roster of New York-based designers and design studios to reimagine the storied residence.

For the rooftop "Tennis Terrace," design studio Stollar Fearins Welch draws inspiration from the nostalgic glamour of a classic athletic club. Overlooking sweeping views of Manhattan and the Brooklyn Bridge, the sun-drenched terrace offers a playful and unexpected take on outdoor living, layered with an unexpected mix of JANUS et Cie collections.

The outdoor space features collections like Orchid by Ludovica Serafini + Roberto Palomba, Plume by Patrick Norguet, Lucy, Azimuth, Inlaid, as well as Marigot Lanterns and Boxtrough Planters. And last, but certainly not least: the Cross Court Table in Textured White–an especially fitting centerpiece for the tennis-inspired setting.

Throughout the refurbished brownstone, color-drenched and moody spaces showcase the distinctive visions of New York-based design firms, including Brian Cash Works, Emily Eng Interiors, Field Form, Innerform, Paige Blodgett Interiors, Silverwing Interiors, Unionworks, and more.

Congratulations to the Brooklyn Heights Association and this year?s talented roster of designers on a celebration of design, history, and imagination.

The 2026 Brooklyn Heights Designer Showhouse is open to the public through November 1, 2026.

Click here to purchase tickets.

1 Monroe Place
Brooklyn, NY

Photographed by Tori Sikkema; courtesy Brooklyn Heights Designer Showhouse